Brief description of the activities the scholar performed or participated in:

I worked in multiple roles, including as a moderator and content creator. As a moderator, I reviewed written research papers on topics such as Gamification in Education and AI in Cybersecurity. My tasks involved adjusting AI-related percentages, paraphrasing content, refining templates, and ensuring that references adhered to APA guidelines.

In my role as a content creator, I developed an interactive quiz focused on business applications, which was designed to engage users on a social media platform. This work required creating engaging and informative content to showcase practical insights and applications relevant to the business world, aiming to educate and captivate the social media audience.

Written feedback about the scholar's performance:

Gaelle displayed strong multitasking and content creation skills, effectively moderating research papers and developing engaging, business-focused interactive quizzes.
